

Double Barreled Probe Of Federal Housing Setup Nearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The decks were cleared today for a double barreled probe of a possible scandal in certain of the government's housing operations.

The first official rumbling of continuing trouble in the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) came late yesterday when the White House announced the resignation of FHA Commissioner Guy T. O. Hollyday.

President Eisenhower at the same time ordered Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole to impound FHA's records "to facilitate the investigations which are being conducted."

Shortly afterward, Cole, Hollyday's boss, announced that his agency will investigate "various irregularities and abuses" in the home modernization and repair program. Homeholders allegedly had been fleeced.

Detailing allegedly shady manipulations in apartment project financing, Cole said private promoters obtained FHA - insured mortgages for twice the value of their property. Then they would collapse their corporations and declare themselves "liquidating dividends" thereby raking in sizable "windfalls."

Cole said promoters have dug up 251 such cases in which the promoters' total take was "well over 75 million dollars."

He said this practice was "so prevalent and widely known that it is inconceivable that responsible FHA officials could be unaware of it."

He said criminal charges could be brought against the apartment house promoters, if evidence of collusion turned up. But if it was only a matter of the promoter outguessing the appraiser, he said, no such legal action was possible.

Turning to the reported abuses in the billion-dollar-a-year home repair field, he said some home owners have been charged double the value of work done under FHA-insured loans. He said there were many cases of slipshod performance and still others where salesmen promised "rebates" that never were paid.

Cole also said the FBI will check on alleged "illegal or unethical action" in the handling of apartment project financing by FHA officials. Here he said, investigators will search for evidence of "collusion" between apartment builders and federal officials in the insuring of mortgages on inflated appraisals—something that he said already has cost the government better than $75 million.

Cole indicated he expects few criminal actions, but he added that "the great number of these cases indicates there was either gross negligence or collusion."

Allegedly off-color apartment project financing was said to have developed under the post-World War II housing program, which died four years ago.

But Cole said complaints about overcharges and shoddy work in the home repair field have been coming in for years, right up through 1953 when the Eisenhower administration came to power.

Cole paid tribute to Hollyday, 61-year-old former mortgage banker from Baltimore, as "a good Christian gentleman."

But he said Hollyday, who was appointed by Eisenhower about a year ago, might be held partially responsible for abuses under the housing repair program because "I believe he has been aware of it and did not act."

Cole said the activities of 14 of FHA's senior officials will be held up to the light and he indicated he expects many of these to go.

He made known too that he has withdrawn his acceptance of the resignation last week of Clyde L. Powell of St. Louis, assistant FHA commissioner for rental housing since 1936. His resignation was to have taken effect Friday, Cole said he wanted Powell to stay until "it can be determined whether he is personally responsible for what I deem negligent operation."

Becker Points To Instructions On Tax Policy

State Official Tells How Law Governs Real Assessments

In two installments starting with today's issue, The Herald is bringing to its readers a critical state report on the real estate tax computing methods used in Pickaway County through recent years. The report is by Ferd F. Becker, chief of the Division of County Affairs under the State Board of Tax Appeals.

The Herald will offer the full report, in the belief that it contains information of vital importance to local taxing bodies, public officials, and the general public. For the benefit of any readers unfamiliar with the background of the subject touched upon, Becker's introductory paragraphs—referring to a state board hearing held here earlier this month—have also been left intact.

His letter follows:

We received copies of the Tuesday, April 6, 1954, edition of the Circleville Herald, reporting a hearing held by the board of tax appeals of the department of taxation at Circleville, Ohio, on April 5, 1954, for the purpose of acquiring into the method used by the assessors in arriving at assessed tax valuations of real property as reported on the abstract and supplemental abstract for the tax year 1953, being the base used in computing taxes levied and collected in the calendar year 1954; also the article issued by the board of revision of Pickaway county in justification of the policy that they have followed, not only in the year 1953, but in previous years.

In my opinion the newspaper should be congratulated on the article on two points. One, an accurate and factual report. Two, presenting both sides of the problem clearly to the readers of the Circleville Herald.

TO THE average reader it would appear that there is a difference of (Continued on Page Two)

U.S. Business Challenged To Take Up Slack

ATLANTA (AP)—The president of the American Bankers Assn. today called upon free enterprise to "take up the slack" in business and forestall government moves to bolster the U. S. economy.

Everett D. Reese of Newark, Ohio, said private business, demanding less government in business, finally has gained a hearing after 20 years of what he called "creeping bureaucracy."

But, he continued in an address for delivery before the Georgia Bankers Assn., most persons, "not reckoning the consequences," seem to like "the pleasant effects" of government shots in the arm.

The present business decline, he said, has brought clamor from many directions and the administration has promised to do whatever is necessary to maintain the economy at a high level.

Thus, the bank leader reasoned, the nation is at the crossroads and it cannot yet be determined which direction it will take.

The challenge to private business, he declared, is to "take up the slack of the reconversion from a peak defense effort" and thus throw its weight solidly for a "fuller expression of free enterprise."

Reese, president of the Park National Bank of Newark, told his fellow bankers their role in the challenge is especially important in that they must provide the needed credit to business.

Doctors Warned On Fee-Splitting

COLUMBUS (AP)—The executive director of the American College of Surgeons says some form of federal control may be instituted if doctors fail to act themselves to eliminate fee-splitting.

Dr. Paul R. Hawley of Chicago, in an address last night to the Ohio State Surgical Assn., said the issue of compulsory medical insurance is "only quiescent and needs merely the breath of the left wing administration such as we enjoyed from 1933 to 1953 to rouse it."

Fee-splitting is the practice of referring patients to other doctors for supplementary examinations or surgery often considered unnecessary. Doctors have been accused of establishing agreements with their colleagues to share in the fees derived from such extra services.

"Failure to take action against unnecessary surgery in our profession might lead to action such as resulted when Wall Street had fleeced enough people to cause the establishment of the Federal Trade Commission," he said, adding:

"The medical profession has the choice of heeding or disregarding these lessons in history."

The Surgical Assn. passed a resolution declaring the practice of fee-splitting to be "no longer ordinary or necessary" in Ohio.

The resolution read:

"The practice of fee-splitting is unalterably opposed by the members of the Ohio State Surgical Assn., and it is no longer ordinary or necessary business practice."

The association's public relations office explained the resolution was so worded because "internal revenue agents in various areas of the state have been granting rebates to surgeons who have argued that it was necessary to conduct their practice in such a manner."

Hawley also condemned what he called "ghost surgery." That is the practice of having a patient's doctor take the patient to the operating room where another doctor actually performs the operation.

Arab-Israel Feud Stalls U.N. Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. delegates sought today to compromise an Arab-Western impasse so that the Security Council could get on with debate on the dynamite-packed Palestine issue.

The Arabs, after two fruitless council meetings, still demanded that the 11-nation group give priority to Lebanon's complaint that Israeli forces attacked the Jordan village of Nahalin March 28 and killed nine Arabs.

The United States, Britain and France at the council meeting yesterday again insisted that Lebanon's complaint, and rival Israeli charges also before the council, should be bypassed for a broad discussion of the increasing violence between Israel and her Arab adversaries of the 1948 Palestine war.

The Soviet Union's Andrei Y. Vishinsky, council president for April, backed Lebanese Delegate Charles Malik yesterday. He said lumping together the Arab and Israeli complaints was neither "expedient" nor "necessary" and that it would "lead to further complications."

The council recessed until Thursday afternoon while delegates sought a way out of the conflict.

Airplane Plant Union Chiefs Suspended By High Command

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ray Ross, newly appointed administrator of the big CIO-United Auto Workers Local 927 at North American Aviation Inc., plant here, said today an election of new local officers will be held in the next 60 days.

Three of the local's officers were suspended on orders of the UAW International Executive Board. Ross was named administrator of the local by CIO President Walter Reuther and the executive board.

Suspended by the union board were Elmer Adkins, president of Local 927; David Cook, vice president, and Warren Pace, recording secretary.

Ross said the possibility of other suspensions will depend upon development as the international's effort to reorganize Local 927 progresses.

Elderly Couple Injured When Car Swerves Out Of Control

A 71 year-old Columbus man and his 60 year-old wife were badly injured Monday night when their late model car went out of control and struck a tree at the intersection of State Road 316 and Route 23.

C. F. Payton suffered lacerations on the left side of his head, a bump on his nose, a bruised right arm and right knee. His wife has a laceration of her right eye and complained of pains in her chest and knees. Mrs. Payton is to be x-rayed at Mercy Hospital where she and her husband were taken following the accident.

They told Sheriff's Deputy Carl Radcliff they had left Columbus going south on State Road 104. They turned east on 316 heading towards Route 23.

When they reached the intersection, Payton told Deputy Radcliff, he saw a car approaching from the south on Route 23. As it was coming up very fast he stepped on the accelerator to give his car an extra spurt so it would be out of the intersection in time.

DEPUTY RADCLIFF explained the car was equipped with power steering, which means the wheels are turned at just a touch. The car also had a very powerful engine.

When Payton applied the extra power, Radcliff said, the wheels, which were already turned, turned at even sharper angle. Apparently Mr. Payton did not estimate the situation because the car made a complete circle before crashing in the tree at the west side of the road.

The front end of the car was demolished.

Grand Jury Indicts Crime School Prof

CLEVELAND (AP)—The grand jury returned pandering indictment yesterday against Emmett Cobb, 32, a self-styled "prophet" who police say ran a crime school for girls.

Nine women and girls testified against Cobb, one of them a 19-year-old resident of Shaker Heights, one of Cleveland's better suburbs.

Police said Cobb presided at "classes" in which he gave courses to women in bogus check passing, confidence games and shoplifting.

He wears a fez and a beard and is also known as "Tonelli" and "Ahmad El."

Guilty-Conscience Killer Is Indicted

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Anthony Derda, who stopped a Cleveland policeman and told of shooting a boyhood chum years ago, was indicted yesterday for voluntary manslaughter here.

Derda, now 29, told the policeman he shot Steve Kotula in 1936 when he was 11 and Kotula 10. They were hunting at the time.

Derda, who said he wanted to clear his conscience, waived extradition and was brought to Pittsburgh in February.

Soviet Aide Quits, Tells Spy Secrets

CANBERRA (AP)—Prime Minister Robert Menzies announced today the Soviet embassy's third secretary here had fled the Russians and disclosed widespread Soviet spy network in Australia.

Menzies said a royal commission had been appointed to investigate the information supplied by the Soviet diplomat Vladimir Petrov.

The prime minister said Petrov had appealed for political asylum in Australia and had been turned over to the nation's security forces for further questioning.

Petrov, Menzies said, had given the security forces a great number of documents and oral information listing Australian "contacts or co-operators," some of them under code names.

The government chief told the shocked House the royal commission would investigate these listings, as well as activities of agents of the Soviet secret police in Australia.

... PETROV'S SWITCH to the West closely paralleled that of Igor Gouzenko, the code clerk in the Kremlin's embassy in Ottawa who in 1945 broke with the Russians and turned himself over to the Canadians. His disclosures broke open the Soviets' wartime atom spy ring in Canada and the United States.

A statement by Petrov said:

"I wish to ask the Australian government for permission to remain in Australia permanently."

"I wish to become an Australian citizen as soon as possible."

"I ask for protection for myself and assistance to establish myself comfortably in this country."

"I no longer believe in the communism of the Soviet leadership. I no longer believe in communism."

'Broken Heart' Girl Getting Checkup

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Youngstown girl whose "broken heart" was mended at St. Vincent Charity Hospital, went back there yesterday for a checkup.

She is Miss Ilah Jean Megla, 21, who survived a heart operation that required a curved up-holsterer's needle to sew the stitches.

Dr. Earle B. Kay, who performed the operation, said it was to close a hole in the wall separating the lower heart chambers.

Miss Megla, who went to work for a local steel firm after the operation, said she can do slow dances now and hopes to take up square dancing soon.

Researchers Say Adventure Is Key To Women's Shopping

COLUMBUS (AP)—An Ohio State University research team has decided the spirit of adventure has something to do with where women shop.

Christen T. Jonassen, assistant professor of sociology, says the spirit of adventure, among other factors, helps explain "the solid core of survival value for the downtown shopping center."

Other factors are lower prices, larger selection of particular items and greater variety of types of goods and services. Adventure was listed along with "new experiences" as an element of "psychological satisfaction" in downtown shopping as compared to shopping in modern, suburban centers.

What about the heavy downtown traffic, the researchers wondered.

Ninety per cent of those interviewed, said parking was difficult in downtown areas, Jonassen remarked. Eighty-one per cent complained of heavy traffic, and 71 per cent were conscious of the cost of parking downtown.

But despite their complaints, only nine per cent found traffic problems important enough to keep them away from the downtown shopping district.

Jonassen says suburbs gained a little more than four per cent of the total trade from 1940-50. In 1950, the downtown areas still accounted for about 90 per cent of the total.

Oppenheimer Is Labeled As Security Risk

Noted Scientist Also Accused Of Seeking To Block Work On H-Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, called the man who built the A-bomb, has been suspended as a government adviser on atomic matters for security reasons including accusations that he sought to block development of the hydrogen bomb. He declared he will fight the accusations.

The noted physicist disclosed the charges himself today by making an exchange of letters with M. J. Gen. K. D. Nichols, general manager of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Nichols' letter said 16 specific allegations of subversive activities had been leveled against Oppenheimer. One was that he battled against construction of the H-bomb even after former President Truman approved it.

In reply, Oppenheimer wrote a 43-page letter on March 4 which he called "a summary account of relevant aspects of my life."

In the letter, the scientist took up each of the allegations raised in Nichols' letter including the statement that he had argued against development of the hydrogen bomb in 1949.

... OPPENHEIMER said he as well as the entire general advisory committee on atomic matters, made up of top-level scientists, argued against the rapid buildup of H-weapons, which the scientists referred to as a "crash program."

He said the committee submitted a report to the AEC stating that "such a program might weaken rather than strengthen the position of the United States."

But, Oppenheimer said, he and the other members of the committee shifted signals after President Truman announced in January 1950, that the United States would proceed with the H-bomb program.

Oppenheimer, now 49, acknowledged that in his younger years (Continued on Page Two)

Ohioan's Scheme Cuts Milk Price To Pennsylvania

SHARON, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania milk purchasers are getting a break on dairy prices because of a scheme worked out by an Ohioan.

The price of milk in Sharon, set by the Pennsylvania Milk Commission is 23 cents a quart in stores.

In Temple McAllister's Golden Dawn Dairy Store in Sharon, milk prices follow the rate set by the commission. But he sells it only in gallon and half-gallon containers and charges a five-cent deposit for the container, regardless of size.

In his Masury, Ohio, store, about five miles from Sharon, McAllister charges a 25-cent deposit on gallon containers and 20 cents on half-gallon bottles.

Customers who purchase a half-gallon of milk in Sharon for 46 cents plus a nickel deposit may redeem the bottle for 20 cents in Masury. Thus they pay only 31 cents actually for a half-gallon.

Churches Closing Lenten Services

The last of the Wednesday Lenten services for 1954 will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church here at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Theme of the service will be "Christ Bearing His Cross." The sermon will be based on Luke 23:26-31 and a painting by Hoffman. The service will be conducted by Intern Donald Kearns.

Other services this week in Trinity Church will be:

Thursday at 7:30 p. m., Maundy Thursday Communion Service. Last Sunday's confirmation class will receive Holy Communion as a group at this service.

Friday at 2 p. m., Traditional Good Friday Service. The theme of this service will be "The Crucifixion"; at 7:30 p. m., Communion.

In Tarlton, the Presbyterian Church in that community will also hold the last of its Lenten season services on Wednesday evening. The Rev. Ivan L. Wilkins of Columbus will be in charge of the meeting.

State CD Official To Deliver Talk

One of the top officials of Ohio's Civil Defense organization will be in Circleville next Tuesday night to urge City Council to be generous in allocating funds for emergency planning.

Pickaway County Civil Defense Director Bernard Tait announced Tuesday that Roy A. Horn, director of personnel in the State Civil Defense setup, has agreed to give a short talk at the meeting of lawmakers.

Council has indicated willingness to appropriate several hundred dollars for the district's emergency planning. Pickaway County will match whatever the city sets aside, and Tait said he has assurance federal matching funds will then be available for the city-county total.

Firefighters Get Assist By Sheriff

The Pickaway County Sheriff's department had to help locate a fire near Ashville. It took almost half an hour Tuesday morning from the time the call was first received to the time fire apparatus reached the home of Rodney Ward. Evidently, according to the report by Deputy Walter Richards, the house caught fire from the kitchen flue. The roof and a cornice were burned. Actual damage cost was not estimated.

Two trucks from Lithopolis and one from Ashville answered the alarm, but needed help in locating the house because of faulty directions, according to the sheriff's department here.

opinion in the interpretation and administration of the statutes relating to the assessing of real property for taxation purposes. In my opinion, this condition should not exist, particularly between public officials required to carry out the provisions of the statutes.

They should not attempt to substitute their judgment for laws enacted by the General Assembly of Ohio and interpreted by the courts of Ohio.

We are enclosing four entries issued by the board of tax appeals from October 10, 1951 to September 1, 1953, for the purpose of informing public officials of their specific duties as provided by law. These entries were issued for the sole purpose of ending any misunderstanding in regard to the required official actions of any and all elected or appointed officials charged with the duty of assessing, levying and collecting real property taxes.

Copies of each of the entries issued by the Board were mailed to each county auditor, treasurer, prosecuting attorney, and to each board of county commissioners in the State of Ohio.

The first entry was issued under date of October 10, 1951, and explains in detail the equalization of assessed values as required under the provisions of H. B. 644, enacted by the 98th General Assembly, effective October 25, 1949.

The second entry was issued under date of April 10, 1952, supplementing the previous entry of October 10, 1951. This entry related to the specific duties of the board of tax appeals and the county auditor. It included and set forth not only the constitutional and statutory enactments relating to the assessing and equalizing of real property values, but in addition thereto, decisions by the Supreme Court of Ohio relating to the same matter.

Quoting from section 5548, G. C., then in effect, and now section 5713.01 of the Revised Code, it is pointed out that each county is the unit for assessing real property; second, the county auditor shall be the assessor of all real property in his county for purposes of taxation (except public utility property assessed by the tax commissioner); third, it is the duty of the county auditor to assess all real estate in his county at its true value in money.

FOURTH, IT IS the duty of a county auditor to view, revalue and assess all real property in his county once in each six-year period beginning with the year 1943; fifth, it is the duty of the county auditor at any time, to revalue and assess any or all real estate in his county, at its true value in money, when he finds the same has changed in value, or is not on the tax list at its true value in money; sixth, the auditor, with the approval of the board of tax appeals, may appoint and employ such experts, deputies, clerks or other employees as he deems necessary to the performance of his duties as assessor, the compensation of such employees to be fixed by the board of county commissioners;

Seventh, such experts, deputies, clerks and other employees, in addition to their other duties, shall perform such services as the auditor directs, in ascertaining facts, description, location, character, dimensions of buildings and improvements, and other circumstances reflecting upon the value of real estate as will aid the auditor in fixing its true value in money; eighth, the auditor may also summon any person under oath in respect to any matter pertaining to the value of any real property within the county.

On page two of the entry, the following language appears:

"(1) The law never contemplated that a state agency such as the Board of Tax Appeals of Ohio would be the assessor of in-

Boy Crashes Bike Into Rear Of Bus

A 14 year-old Lockbourne boy suffered serious injuries Monday afternoon when he ran his motor bike into the back of an Ashville school bus. Dickey MacNamee is in Mercy Hospital with lacerations of the nose, left knee and a possible skull fracture. At last report he was still in the Columbus hospital waiting to be x-rayed.

The accident occurred on the Ashville-Lockbourne Road near St. Paul Road. The bus driver, Roy Krieger, 43 of Ashville, told Sheriff's Deputy Carl Radcliff he had stopped to leave off a child passenger.

He further said that he did not have his foot on the brake. When the bike hit, the bus was knocked forward about 100 feet. None of the three or four occupants of the bus was injured.

Krieger is owner of the bus.

dividual parcels of real property, and the Board of Tax Appeals has no intention of assuming such a duty. The law clearly provides that the assessment of real property for taxation shall be at the county level and shall be one of the duties of the County Auditor."

The third entry was issued by the Board on August 25, 1952. This entry answered sixteen (16) questions submitted to the Board of Tax Appeals by the county auditors. It not only supplemented the two previous entries of October 10, 1951 and April 10, 1952 relating to the program of assessing and equalizing tax valuations of real property, but in addition, answered specific questions relating to the duties and powers of county boards of revision and county budget commissions. We wish to call your attention to the following language appearing on page 7:

"The county board of revision shall in all respects be governed by the laws respecting the valuation of real property and shall make no change of any valuation except in accordance with such laws."

"THE BOARD of revision is required to hear complaints relating to the assessment of real property as the same appears upon the tax list and duplicate of the current tax year, and shall investigate all complaints and may increase or decrease any such valuations or correct any assessment complained of, or it may order a reassessment by the original assessment officer. (Section 5597, G. C.)"

"Any taxpayer may file a complaint as to the valuation or assessment of either his own or another's real property valuation in any year providing the complaint is filed with the county auditor on or before the time limited for collecting the first installment of taxes without penalty. (Section 5609, G. C.)"

On September 1, 1953, the Board of Tax Appeals prepared and issued an entry for the express purpose of calling to the attention of each county auditor, and the members of each Board of Revision in Ohio, their respective duties and responsibilities relative to the valuing and assessing of real property for tax purposes. On page two of the entry, reference was made to the duty of the county auditor to assess all the real estate in his county. Starting on page three and continuing for the next four pages, were instructions and exact copies of six sections of the General Code relating to the duties of the County Board of Revision to review and revise the work of the county auditor. ## Oppenheimer Is Labeled As Security Risk

he had associated with Communists and contributed to some Communist causes. He declared: "I have reviewed two decades of my life. I have recalled instances where I acted unwisely. What I have hoped was, not that I could wholly avoid error, but that I might learn from it. What I have learned has, I think, made me fit to serve my country."

In dispatches from Washington, the New York Times, New York Herald Tribune and New York Daily News said in today's editions a special three-man board has been set up to hear charges against Oppenheimer, who during World War II directed the nation's first atomic bomb project near Los Alamos, N. M.

President Eisenhower and his top lieutenants went over the Oppenheimer case before the AEC probe was launched, the newspapers said. The charges against him reportedly were sent to the White House by the FBI.

One charge against Oppenheimer was that he opposed the hydrogen bomb project and lobbied against it even after former President Truman ordered the AEC to go ahead with it.

Oppenheimer was quoted as denying he had urged scientists to boycott the project. He admitted he, along with a majority of the AEC's general advisory committee, had opposed the project in 1949, the newspapers reported.

HOWEVER, once the decision was made to proceed with the bomb, Oppenheimer said, the advisory committee, of which he was chairman, helped to solve H-bomb problems and "never again raised the question of the wisdom of the policy."

The Herald Tribune said Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) had the Oppenheimer case in mind when he said in a recent telecast that there had been "an 18-month deliberate delay" in devising the U. S. hydrogen bomb.

The newspaper said McCarthy had planned to bring sensational charges against Oppenheimer in a speech in San Jacinto, Tex., on April 21, the day before hearings on his controversy with the Army star in Washington.

McCarthy had held back the Oppenheimer case as a reserve weapon, the Herald Tribune continued and planned to use it to "smother the Army probe in a tremendous hydrogen espionage sensation."

The Daily News said former President Truman in mid-1952 did not reappoint Oppenheimer chairman of the AEC's General Advisory Committee after he was given the FBI reports.

Members of the board which reportedly began hearings on the Oppenheimer charges yesterday, were identified as Gordon Gray, former secretary of the Army; Thomas Morgan, New York businessman and retired head of the Sperry Corp., and Ward V. Evans, chemistry professor at Loyola University in Chicago.

MOST OF THE charges against Oppenheimer were old and had been known to government authorities for many years, the papers said. The charges, as listed by the New York Times, were that he:

"1. Associated frequently with Communists in the early forties, including his brother Frank and Frank's wife; that he fell in love with one Communist and married another former Communist; and

Driver Fined, Jailed As Result Latest Accident At Leistville

Craig R. Parsons, 32, Waverly, was found guilty Monday by Municipal Judge Sterling Lamb of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and failing to yield the right of way.

The accusations were the result of an accident Sunday night at "Dead Man's Crossing" near Leistville. The four occupants of the other car, the Scott family of Springfield, were taken to City Hospital there. Most seriously injured was 15 months-old Gail with a broken leg and internal injuries.

Judge Lamb fined Parsons $100 and costs, sentenced him to three days in jail and suspended his driver's license for six months on the drunk driving count. Failure to

York Street Site Of Monday Blaze

A fire call to the home of Allen Shaffer, York St., was answered by Circleville Fire Department Monday at 2:30 p. m.

The small house was of wooden construction. The blaze caused a great amount of smoke. Damage has not yet been estimated.

The firemen had to break windows and axe holes in the sides of the house in order to get the flames under control.

Origin of the fire has not been reported.

that he contributed regularly and generously to Communist causes from 1940 to 1942.

"2. Hired Communists or former Communists at Los Alamos during the war.

"3. Gave contradictory testimony to the Federal Bureau of Investigation about attendance at Communist meetings in the early 1940s.

"4. Rejected as 'traitorous' an attempt by an alleged Communist to get scientific information from him for the Soviet Union but failed to report the incident to the government for months.

"5. Strongly opposed the development of the hydrogen bomb in 1949 when he was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission's general advisory committee, and lobbied against it even after President Truman ordered the AEC to proceed with the project."

Oppenheimer is now director of the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N. J. He has admitted early associations with Communists but has repeatedly denied he ever was a member of the Communist party.

Woman Hurt, Stone Cracks Windshield

A small stone which fell from a gravel truck Monday bounced up from the road and went through windshield of a car following the truck. Mrs. Dorothy McKittrick, 32, of Rockbridge, suffered a slight injury to her right eye.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Clayton, 42. Mrs. McKittrick refused treatment, saying she would have the injury taken care of by her personal physician.

Sheriff's Deputy Carl Radcliff investigated the accident which took place on Route 22, one half-mile east of here.

Severe Scalp Cut Result Of Accident

Nearly 25 stitches were needed to close the scalp laceration suffered by Harley Hart of South Bloomfield in an accident Monday evening. The 60-year-old man apparently lost control of his small truck and went over an embankment eight miles southwest of South Bloomfield.

According to Sheriff's Deputy Carl Radcliff, the Roy Mercer family heard the crash and rushed to the scene, a short distance from their house, and found Hart severely cut.

He was taken to Berger Hospital.

Reid Explains Pickaway County Is Outsider In Air School Study

President Henry L. Reid of Circleville Chamber of Commerce filled out more of the picture late Monday on the chances of having the nation's new Air Force Academy located in the Franklin-Pickaway county region.

He said he was able to confirm that Franklin County sites are still in the running for the "West Point of the Air" training center. And that officials of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, if they can't get it for Franklin County, will try to get

Army Cpl. William R. Slick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester D. Slick Sr. of Ashville, recently joined the 25th Infantry Division in Korea.

Rushed to Korea during the early days of the conflict, the "Tropic Lightning" division took part in some of the most bitter fighting on the peninsula. It is now undergoing intensive post-trace training.

Corporal Slick, a supply specialist, entered the Army in November 1950 and completed basic training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky.

A-1C Darrell E. Hedges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hedges of Box 46, Tarlton, is now stationed at the northernmost United States Air Base near Thule, Greenland. Airman Hedges, a graduate of Salt Creek High School, served one year in Greenland as a telephone maintenance repairman with the 6612th Air Base Squadron.

Thule Air Base, an "aluminum city" 900 miles from the north pole, on the northwest coast of Greenland, is the key defense point in the Northeast Air Command.

Polar bears, seals and walrus occasionally are found near Thule Air Base, where the great Greenland ice-cap juts seaward. Eskimos and Danish settlers live in areas near the vast arctic airdrome. At Thule the winter months are totally dark and the midnight sun shines during the summer.

James D. Seymour, serving with the Air Force, recently arrived at Sampson Air Force Base, located near Geneva, N. Y., on the eastern shore of Lake Seneca.

A large number of the men going into the Air Force from the eastern and New England states receive their basic training at Sampson. After Seymour completes his indoctrination training at that base, he will be assigned either to a technical school or to another base in the United States for further training.

Friends and relatives have been asked to write him during his stay at his new station. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Davidson of 364 Barnes Ave. His address: A-B James D. Seymour, AF 15-519-916; 3663 Training Squadron, Flight 3232; Sampson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y.

A Special Tenth Anniversary Edition of Robert Sherrod's memorable "Tarawa—The Story of a Battle" will be published during the month of April as a practical tribute to those gallant Marines who lost their lives on its beaches.

The anniversary edition will lay the foundation for a fund with which the Second Marine Division Association will finance college education for deserving sons and daughters of the division's heroic dead.

According to Brigadier General David M. Shoup, who won the Medal of Honor on Tarawa, a portion of the price of every book sold will be earmarked specifically for that purpose. Additional direct contributions to the fund will be accepted and placed one hundred percent to the credit of the fund. Plans for management of the fund already are being worked out.

Interested persons can contact General Shoup for additional information at offices of the Second Marine Division Association, Headquarters, U.S. Marine Corps, Washington, 25, D. C.

it for "some other spot in Central Ohio."

However, Reid said a Chamber spokesman in Columbus reminded him that "hundreds of other places all over the country" stand as good or better chance of getting the academy, and that any decision regarding this section of the state should not be expected for at least two months.

No particular mention was made of Pickaway County, Reid said, except the indirect reference as to plans if Franklin County itself isn't able to bring the school to the area around Columbus.

In that event, Circleville's newly elected Chamber head was assured, Chamber leaders in Columbus would try to negotiate acceptance for a site in Pickaway or one of the other surrounding counties.

Reid learned Columbus officials are suggesting two areas as possible academy sites, but the location was not specified except that both are in Franklin County. It was pointed out the academy, under federal law calling for dispersal of vital installations, would have to be a certain distance from the Lockbourne air center and other similar potential air targets.

Reid said he was told the committee given the responsibility of picking the academy site is looking for an area of at least 15,000 acres.

"The current interest in Franklin County as far as I can find out," Reid said, "is only a continuation of the interest shown in the district three or four years ago. Chances of getting the academy in the Columbus region appear to be no better and no worse than they did at that time."

"Meanwhile, we've been advised that if Circleville and Pickaway County leaders want to draw particular attention to this district, we should contact Congressman Vorys."

THE CHAMBER spokesman in Columbus said it is true the civic group had recently been asked to supply additional information as to regional advantages. Columbus Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, in disclosing this fact to The Herald, added that he personally hoped the academy would be located somewhere between Columbus and Circleville.

Sensenbrenner had been notified by Congressman John Vorys of Ohio that a site near Lockbourne Air Base was "under consideration."

SIX LETTERS TO LUCILLA

To My Beloved Wife Lucilla:

The incident of which I wrote you yesterday, that strange procession I encountered in the city street, was with me in my mind as I awakened this morning. At first this angered me—for what bother is this of mine, a Roman citizen, what these people do?—this rabble in an obscure old town here on the ragged outskirts of the great Roman Empire?

After my bath, which not only refreshed me greatly but washed away such gloomy thoughts, I was waited upon by a centurion named Carus who declared he had come from the Procurator and was to act as my guide if I so desired. Intelligent, though light-hearted, he reminded me of your younger brother, Marcus, and I was happy to accept.

"I am in your hands," I said. "Whence shall we first go—to the market place?"

Carus laughed. "Not unless it is your plan to study the human race in only two varieties—wolves and sheep. I would suggest the Temple because all manner of folk are encountered there." Sound advice, indeed!

As we approached the Temple we were made aware of a considerable disturbance taking place at its door. Several villainous-looking fellows, in obvious fright and clutching cages containing sacrificial doves, scampered by us.

Then I saw the tables of the money-changers—those greedy fellows who are the same everywhere!—had been overturned and the dealers in coins were scrambling about after the bits of silver which rolled everywhere.

I looked up and—behold, Lucilla!—I could hardly believe the testimony of my eyes! There, standing above that motley crew in righteous wrath was the Person I saw being so greatly honored just yesterday!

He spoke and, Lucilla, I shall never forget those words: "Is it not written, My house shall be called of all nations a house of prayer? but ye have made it a den of thieves."

I would have stayed but Carus urged we depart lest we become involved in a local controversy. Due to the sketch of the temple scene which I append, I have no more space so I must close this letter. Until tomorrow—

Your faithful husband,
ARIUS.

MODEL MISSION

FOREIGN BUSINESS missions go back centuries in history. In a number of areas and for many years these precursors of colonialism had their operations well staked out before religious missions were heard of. Not to be denied, church missions soon came into their own as the political coloration of all the world's areas became hard and fast.

Since World War II, as native elements in some of the subject areas became restive, a new type of mission came into being, the technical mission which seeks to spread materialistic enlightenment even as the religious sowed the spiritual.

There is now in existence in the Peruvian wilds of South America a modern missionary project that is threefold—business, religious and technical. R. G. LeTourneau, American construction machinery manufacturer, is using modern equipment to clear a one million-acre tract in the upper Amazon jungle as part of a road-building project to link the river with a railroad.

Mr. LeTourneau, who is also a lay Protestant preacher, is making full use of the opportunity to preach Christianity to the Indians in the Area, while not neglecting the practical problems of making the project pay.

Here is humanitarian endeavor of the highest type, meeting material and spiritual needs of a backward people and simultaneously demonstrating the virtues of free enterprise. The free world would benefit if there were more modern missions on the LeTourneau model.

BILLIONS NEEDED

IF THIS COUNTRY can ever again reach the point of devoting most of its thinking and resources to domestic affairs instead of foreign affairs, it will be kept busy for years bringing its accommodations up to a satisfactory level.

This is suggested by the estimate of an economist that the current spending of $9½ billion annually for school budgets should be increased by $4½ billion annually.

By 1960, he says, there will be eight million more pupils than now for the public schools to serve. Dr. S. M. Brownell, federal commissioner of education says 340,000 more classrooms are needed, though 150,000 have been built in the past three years.

All highway experts agree that $50 billion needs to be spent on highways to make them safe and serviceable for motorists. Hospital shortages call for the expenditure of other billions. In some states water shortages demand giant water management programs that will be costly.

These Days

John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, is being forced by the course of events to seize the initiative in limiting the invasive characteristics of Red China. Manchuria was used as a sanctuary for Red Chinese forces in the Korean War and we lost that war because of a policy of permitting American troops to fight without a target when the only logical target was Manchuria.

In the Indochina war, a similar sanctuary is being established in the Chinese provinces of Yunnan and Kwangsi and on Hainan. Dulles has notified Red China that that will not be tolerated and that the appearance of a Chinese "volunteer" army in Indochina will meet with massive retaliation.

If the term "massive retaliation" means the use of non-conventional arms, perhaps the bombs, the prospect of expanding the limited Indochina War into a war to include Red China may not be distant. In the balance of power within the Soviet Universal State, Red China must establish a protective suzerainty over other Communist states in Asia.

On the other hand, if those who rule the Soviet Universal State from the Kremlin are not ready for war or truly seek peace, they will have the opportunity at Geneva to offer a program that could be acceptable, with dignity and honor, by the United States. One phase of that program must be limitations upon the imperialism in Asia of Red China.

Soviet Russia will assuredly raise the question of the recognition of Red China by the United Nations. This is the heart of the Red Chinese foreign policy. Up to now, the Government of the United States has resisted every pressure in that direction. Walter P. McCaughy, Director of the Office of Chinese Affairs of the State Department, has summed up the American objection to such recognition in the following terms:

"Non-recognition means refusal to accept the Communist triumph as definitive. It means to many that the will to resist Communist expansion is alive; that Communism is not the inevitable 'wave of the future' for Asia; that Communism is not assured of acceptance and legitimization in every other country where it may gain a beachhead; that our Asian friends who have the courage to stand up against Communism will not have the ground cut out from under their feet if Communism should attempt to subvert or take over their native land."

Further, he said:

"Even Chinese who are not particularly in sympathy with the Chinese National Government tell us that recognition of the Communist dictators in Peiping would be the greatest single nonmilitary triumph for the Communist cause and the hardest psychological blow against the will to resist the further spread of Communism that could be devised."

Slipping of the Spine Found More Frequently After Thirty

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE parts of the vertebrae are normally placed one over the other. However, a separation of the vertebrae can occur, where the surfaces join each other, causing a condition known as spondylolisthesis or slipping of the spine. The most common place for this occurrence is in the lower part of the back.

At one time, this vertebral slip was thought to be quite rare. However, it was found in one study to occur in over one percent of all patients treated for back complaints.

Usual Symptoms

The symptoms are usually persistent back pain accompanied by stiffness. The pain may radiate to both buttocks and down either groin and both legs. There may be some disc protrusion along with the slipping of the vertebrae over each other. The discs are bits of cartilage between the bones of the spine.

The nerve symptoms are usually not as severe as occurs in disc cases. The back pain often disappears when the person lies on his back. Long periods of standing frequently aggravate the symptoms of the disorder.

Unknown Reasons

Although most cases occur after injury, they can occur because of unknown reasons. The disease occurs more frequently after the age of thirty. Careful X-ray examination will usually reveal the slipping of the disc.

Most persons having this difficulty can, with the physician's aid, be relieved by simple non-surgical treatment.

Soft mattresses should be changed into firm ones by putting a board between the mattress and the spring. The use of a back brace is often of great help, as is local heat and massage treatment.

What to Avoid

The patient may be instructed as to proper posture and should avoid a slumping position. Excessive exercise, lifting, and back twisting as done in certain occupations should also be prohibited.

In certain cases where the pain persists even with this type of treatment, the physician may have to resort to operation. Usually a fusion of the bones must be done by means of a bone graft. This is usually very successful in clearing up the disease, but should only be used in those cases that do not respond to medical treatment.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T. R.: Is cortisone of any help in treating Bell's Palsy?

Answer: Bell's Palsy, which is a paralysis of the nerves that supply the muscles of the face and results in a paralysis of these muscles, has been helped in some instances by the administration of cortisone. However, the use of this drug in this disease is fairly recent.

SYNOPSIS

Despite the pinch of poverty, Gale Taber tried to keep up with her fine old family traditions, maintaining the horse-breeding farm in Tennessee which had come to her upon her husband's death. But it was a non-profit venture, she found, one which steeped her in ever mounting debt. She could easily have solved her financial problem by accepting wealthy Sewell Albright's oft-repeated offer of marriage, but Gale Taber loved only her two daughters, now of marriageable age. She had hoped that John-Mark Williamson, a substantial young farmer, might one day marry her dynamic daughter, Ravel, but to her dismay she learned that John-Mark wanted to wed her quiet daughter, Julia, a student nurse at their local hospital. Julia thought that young Dr. Pete Marshall with whom she worked might be interested in her, until she sensed his interest in her handsome red-haired sister, Ravel. And Pete was interested, somewhat, in Ravel until he came upon her drinking with the ageing Sewell Albright, in a public cafe, an evening of revelry which resulted in an automobile accident and which landed Albright in the hospital where Dr. Marshall and nurse Julia Taber now attend him.

CHAPTER NINE

JULIA said, "How did you know that I was off duty tonight?"

"I made an inquiry," John-Mark said.

They sat through a moving picture in a comfortable and unexciting kind of companionship and now they perched on stools at a fountain drinking hot chocolate. John-Mark was all dressed up, she noticed.

"Isn't that a brand-new topcoat? And the hat, too?"

He grinned. "Time I had something new, don't you think?"

"You've seen Gale, Johnny?" she asked. "Are things better with her?"

"I saw her for a few minutes just at dark tonight. I think I'm going to be able to get rid of some of her stock soon. Not settled, but it looks hopeful. Ravel is running around a lot right now, but Gale says she isn't lonely."

"That's new, for Ravel."

"More news. I'm going to paint my house."

She felt a faint uneasiness at that, but John-Mark did not pursue whatever thought may have been in his mind. He drove her back to the hospital and said good-night casually. "We'll do this again some time," he promised, but with no implications at all.

Pryor looked at her watch as Julia came into the room. "You just did get under the wire," she remarked. "I understand from Della that His Glacial Arrogance was whooping it up for you down in emergency an hour or two since."

"Let him whoop. I'm off duty," Julia heard herself saying calmly.

But it was not yet light when the night supervisor knocked loudly on the door.

"Taber," she said, when Julia was able to rouse herself enough to admit her, "we have a wild man down in 418 who won't have anybody on duty with him but you. Seems he has influence." She super capitalized the word acidity.

"He's gone clear up to the night brass and Dr. Baird asked me to put you on special duty down there. We're trying to get him under sedation, but I think you'd better take over right away."

Julia said, "Yes, Miss Porter—but am I supposed to do special duty?"

"Exception. Orders from on high. Get down there as soon as you can."

Emily Kimbrough was in Pittsburgh for a lecture one day when the hotel clerk told her a Mr. Murphy was in the lobby to see her. Identifying him in her mind as an old and valued friend, Miss Kimbrough ordered, "Send him up." As he entered her room, she playfully jumped from behind a door, pointed both forefingers at him and ordered hoarsely, "Stick 'em up!" Mr. Murphy stuck 'em up. Miss Kimbrough thereupon made two disconcerting discoveries: (1) Mr. Murphy was a total stranger to her. (2) He turned out to be an agent of the F.B.I. assigned to question her about an acquaintance who had given her name as a reference. "No more tricks like that for me," vows Miss Kimbrough. news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The Democratic high command's political disciplining of its two California "bad boys," James Roosevelt and Rep. Robert L. Condon, is regarded as top-level strategy by the Stevenson-Mitchell faction of the divided party.

No other theory explains or justifies this official rebuke to the eldest son of F. D. R., whose mother is still so prominent and such a highly honored personality.

The attempted elimination of James Roosevelt from the congressional race, according to this widely held viewpoint, is designed to strengthen the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for governor of New York next fall. As evidence of Democratic resurgence and condemnation of the Eisenhower Administration, the Democrats are extremely anxious to return the Empire State to their file.

DEWEY—Although Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has not announced his plans, he is counted on to seek reelection. He yearns to defeat the son of the man who kept him from the presidency. He will become a political nobody if he steps aside, and he loves politics, power, prestige. He has always been a man on parade, and everybody craves a parade.

Dewey also may be influenced by personal considerations. He finds that he can live on the scale which the state provides only if he earns $400,000 a year in private law practice. Finally, he will be entitled to a $25,000 pension after another term at Albany.

HAD ENOUGH — From the Democratic standpoint, it was sufficiently embarrassing for two Roosevelt brothers to be seeking high office in the same election. There is a suspicion that "the people have had enough of the Roosevelt boys." It is recalled that even Teddy Roosevelt's offspring never achieved political honors from the electorate.

But James' marital troubles are regarded as a handicap to Franklin Jr., who has never discussed them publicly. Indeed, certain New York leaders have been toying with the thought of other gubernatorial entries, such as Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York or Justice Charles W. Froessel of Queens.

Local bosses fear that the impact of the philandering charges against James might alienate devout and conservative New Yorkers, upstate and downstate.

EXPOSURES —The condemnation of Representative Condon is interpreted as an effort to offset Sen. Joe McCarthy's exposure of Communists in government during the Roosevelt-Truman era. Condon was barred from observing a Nevada explosion by the Atomic Energy Commission, a nonpolitical and nonjudicial agency, on the ground that he was a "security risk."

In support of this analysis of National Chairman Stephan A. Mitchell's disciplinary action, which has angered many California Democratic officials, it is pointed out that James' case has yet to be settled in what Mitchell calls "the proper place"—namely, the courts. Condon has denied AEC's charges, and the House has taken no action to investigate or impeach him.

Ohio, Land Of Promise, Is Monday Club Program Topic

Mrs. Edwin Jury Presents Paper

The program for the evening was furnished by Mrs. Edwin Jury, whose topic was "Land of Promise," when the Monday Club met in the Trustees' Room of the Memorial Hall.

The president, Mrs. Donald E. Mitchell, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Arthur Johnson reported that the Social Session of the Pickaway County Association of Women's Clubs will be held in the Presbyterian Church April 28, and that plans are being made for an Antique Sale in June.

Mrs. Enid Denham extended an invitation in behalf of the Library Board of Trustees to the members of Monday Club to attend a lecture on Great Books by a representative of the Encyclopedia Britannica who will be in the Library at 2:45 p. m. April 20.

Mrs. Lawrence Johnson and Miss Ann Leist were elected delegates and Mrs. H. B. Given Jr. and Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson, alternates to an Annual Convention of Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs. The next meeting of the Club will be postponed to May 3 in order that these delegates may report on the convention.

In the introduction of her subject Mrs. Jury said: "During recent months we have been studying the Ohio of the past, and we glory in the deeds of our forefathers; we are living in the Ohio of the present, and are justifiably proud of the accomplishments of our contemporaries; we contemplate the Ohio of the future and are breathless at the frontiers which exist in the minds and imaginations of those who believe that we have only scratched the surface of our economic climate and that there are potentialities for human prosperity and happiness that far surpass anything mankind has ever known."

"Ohioans have done and continue to do many things to further the ideals of those first settlers who loved liberty as they loved life. Since the dawn of Ohio's birth there never has been a period in which the State has not produced men and events of history making calibre. It has been said that we are the one State in the Union that represents a national average, typical in all things. We are singular in that we are the one State that possesses enough natural resources and diversified industry to be completely self sufficient and self sustaining should the need arise."

Mrs. Jury went on to say that it was like "lighting a penny candle on a star" to attempt to reduce to facts and figures the bright and shining vistas of the future and that her discussion would be limited to advances being made in the medical and scientific fields. She told her listeners that medical science is busy in Ohio.

research program underway at Ohio State University is centering on the way the body handles salt and water. This project may produce a chemical test for heart damage. Among other new devices being used at the University is an educational cardioscope. With this doctors may watch on a screen the visual pattern of a patient's heart-beat while at the same time listening to the heart sounds. Human arteries donated by persons for use after their death, are available at the Cleveland Clinic. Medical research in this same clinic removed tuberculosis from the list of major killers.

Intensive experiments at Ohio State University have determined that many drugs imported from foreign countries may be successfully produced in Ohio. The drug plants from which come belladonna, digitalis, and many others adapt themselves to growth in rich Ohio soil.

Turning to the advances of the scientific field Mrs. Jury said that here miracles come fast these days. Quoting from an address by Dr. Charles F. Kettering, she told of his research in nature's manufacture of chlorophyll. Dr. Kettering states that when this can be analyzed it may be possible to produce synthetic foods from air and water.

She continued with the fact that Ohio has contributed enormously to the development of the atom, and added the hope that the atom will justify the sweat and toil invested in it by leading to useful peacetime applications for the benefit of people the world over.

Mrs. Jury said that, "Only recently came the announcement that a method had been found to convert low grade radioactive atoms directly into useful electricity which could eventually mean that our homes will be heated with units the size of a match box."

Experts say we will be seeing 3-D television; while an electric eye on the range shuts off the current when the bottom of the pan reaches a certain temperature, and a device will automatically close the windows when it begins to rain."

Mrs. Jury concluded her paper by stating, "Today Ohio is shouldering, as it has in every period of its history, a great portion of the task of arming the country for defense. We live in the very heart of the war industrial area. Perhaps at times our thinking is colored by a vague terror, a fear of atomic attack, but the intrepid spirit that sustained our pioneer fathers in the conquering of both savage and wilderness will manifest itself in this and in coming generations."

The most accurate measuring stick for the future of Ohio is to be found in the people themselves—people who are proud without being arrogant—people who believe in the democracy of opportunity and in the aristocracy of achievement. We must so live and so act that the shadowy army of the past will know that we are trying to pay the indebtedness of their supreme sacrifice that this magnificent State of Ohio may provide future generations worthy of the builders of the past."

First Methodist Woman's Society Conducts Meeting

A general meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church was held in the church basement with Mrs. William Cook presiding.

Mrs. Paul Johnson led devotions and conducted a memorial service for deceased members of the organization for the past year.

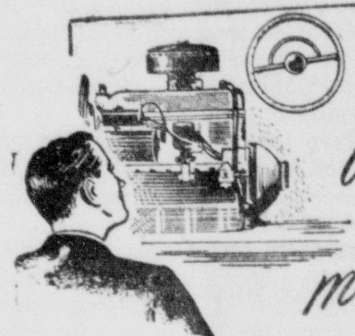

Mrs. Cook asked for eight women to volunteer to serve as ushers at an Ohio Conference of Woman's Societies of Christian Service to be held April 21 in Lancaster.

During an election of officers, Miss Margie Carmean was elected treasurer; Mrs. Rolif Wolford, vice president; Mrs. James Shank, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. Herbert Southard, promotion secretary; Mrs. Clark McFarland, secretary of supplies; Mrs. Leland Dunkle, secretary of children's work and Mrs. Gerald Woodward, secretary of youth work.

Following the business session, the group viewed a movie on narcotics.

Which Part is most important?

THE ANSWER, as you know, is that the engine and the steering wheel are equally important. If either part were missing, the car couldn't function.

The same principle applies to our American industrial system: it takes both "Capital" and "Labor" to make it work.

With willing investors to provide tools, and skilled workers to man them efficiently, American industry has reached the highest level of production in history—and Americans enjoy the highest living standard.

Would any reasonable person deny the investor's right to a fair return for risking his savings, any more than the worker's right to a fair wage? Of course not.

Communists, however, aren't reasonable people. They desperately want to break up our "winning combination." But when they trot out their phony arguments, trying to set one group against another, Americans just look around them and reply "Our system really gives us what you only promise. We like what we've got—and we'll keep it!"

Another winning combination: Americans and the nation's banks in which they deposit. Our staff believes that our bank's success depends largely on the success we help our depositors to achieve. On that basis, we invite your account.

The McCarthy Story: 'Inquisition Of Old'

Editor's note: — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy says people under investigation before his subcommittee enjoy more privileges than they would get in a court of law, but in this article — seventh of a series — some of these people used words like "Terrorizing experience" . . . "The inquisition of old" . . . "Hydra-headed interrogation" . . .

By RELMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — People who have been targets in Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigation of communism struggle for words when they try to tell how it feels to be on his subcommittee's witness stand.

Questioning by McCarthy and his counsel has been called "an ordeal . . . a thoroughly terrifying experience."

A lawyer who represented a witness wrote: "It smacks of the star chamber and the inquisitions of old and what you hear about the Iron Curtain countries."

A former State Department officer said: "I choked up for several minutes . . . I just couldn't speak."

A newspaper editor, recounting his reactions to a statement by McCarthy, said: "His words registered slowly. I must have looked baffled as well as astonished, almost incapable of trusting my own senses."

These expressions came, of course, from witnesses under investigation, not those put on the stand to give testimony against them.

Through speeches and statements in the more public phases of his activity, McCarthy has generated fierce feelings the four years since he first began talking about communism and Communists in government.

But even more violent emotions have been aroused in the rooms where he holds his meetings. He has been accused of mishandling witnesses there, and of violating the first principles of American justice.

The stated purpose of the subcommittee is to investigate "the operations of all government departments at all levels"—in short, to gather information but not to prosecute.

Over and over again, people have come from these hearings asserting that:

1. McCarthy plays the role of prosecutor, not investigator.
2. He takes the position that a witness is guilty of something and places on the witness the burden of proving his own innocence.
3. He violates the boundary between investigation and persecution.

During the uproar over McCarthy's questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, the Chicago Tribune commented editorially:

"It seems to us that Sen. McCarthy will serve his cause better if he learns to distinguish the role of investigator from the role of avenging angel."

The Tribune generally has supported McCarthy.

McCarthy's view is that he grants a witness more latitude than the witness would have in a court of law. He had this exchange with Reed Harris, former deputy director of the International Information Administration:

Harris: "As I have said before, sir, I do not feel that there is a fair atmosphere where the prosecutor and the judge and jury are consolidated, in effect, in one person and where the whole staff, legal staff, is devoted to the prosecution."

McCarthy: "I must interrupt you, Mr. Harris. I would like to ask you what additional privileges you want. We have been conducting a very unusual hearing, one that would never get in a court of law because you would not be accorded these privileges.

"In a court of law you would be allowed to come in and refute what has been said at the end of the hearing. We are allowing you to break in whenever you want to. We have given you the right to have counsel. We have told you you can suggest any witnesses you want to call, that we would call them. We intend to do that."

A Washington lawyer, Francis Flanagan, was chief counsel on McCarthy's staff for years.

Flanagan says: "I think he's been unfairly criticized for his methods. If on occasion a senator or counsel loses his temper that's a reflection of the human element. Any lawyer, questioning a difficult or intractable witness, may sometimes blow up."

A New Jersey lawyer, Harry Green was counsel for witness called by McCarthy's subcommittee when McCarthy was investigating what he called "the earmarks of espionage" at Ft. Monmouth. Green wrote in the New Jersey Law Journal:

"Counsel for the witness is immediately told off, as follows — 'You will be permitted to sit with your client. You may consult with each other, but you are not to participate in any other manner in the hearing.'"

"You are not to ask questions, you are not to cross-examine, you are not to make objections, you are not to argue. You may remain under these conditions."

"Your client is then subjected to a hydra-headed interrogation from all around the table, and to say that he is confused is to put it mildly."

Regarding the charge that McCarthy sometimes takes the position a witness is guilty until proved innocent, Green cited as "an inquisitorial example" — this statement to his client by McCarthy:

"I am troubled by what a witness testified to yesterday. I asked him if you were a Communist and he refused to answer upon the ground that it might incriminate him. Why should he refuse to answer? It seems to me from this that you are a Communist."

Green says he told the committee that that was not fair. His article continues:

"Why not ask my client if he was a Communist? Silence. I then turned to my client and asked him to state on the record whether he was a Communist . . . and client stated emphatically that he was not."

James Wechsler, managing editor of the New York Post, also summoned before the committee, came away from his hearing with a similar reaction. McCarthy told him the hearing would be about some books Wechsler had written and which were in U. S. Information Service libraries around the world. The senator said to him:

"You see, your books—some of them—were paid for by taxpayers' money. They are being used allegedly to fight communism. Your record, as far as I can see it, has not been to fight communism. You have fought every man who has ever tried to fight communism, as far as I know."

Wechsler produced what he thought was convincing proof to the contrary—a Communist party statement of December 1952 containing a bitter attack on him.

"I am rather fond of this tribute," he said, "and it may perhaps have some bearing on your comment that I have not been active in fighting communism."

McCarthy's rejoinder was: "Did you have anything to do with the passage of that resolution?"

Wechsler says he was taken completely aback. He continued:

"Thus, within 10 minutes after the hearing had begun I found myself in the preposterous position of denying under oath that I had inspired the long series of Communist attacks against me, climaxed by the denunciation of the Central Committee."

"Here indeed was a daring new concept in which evidence of innocence becomes the damning proof of guilt."

Witnesses sometimes report they get better treatment from the other members of the subcommittee than from McCarthy and his present chief counsel, Roy G. Cohn.

Theodore Kagan, former U. S. News and Information officer in Germany, was discharged from his post after he appeared before the committee.

"There was much more of an impression," he says, "that the committee as a whole was after information. The other senators asked honest questions. Only Cohn and McCarthy asked dirty questions."

Roy Cohn passed his 27th birthday last Feb. 20. He is short and dark and gives the impression of tension. His movements are quick and jerky. He has a machine gun manner of speech, and he seldom seems to be without an answer.

He was admitted to the bar in 1948 and sworn in as an assistant U. S. attorney the same day. He worked on the William Remington perjury trial, the Julius and Ethel Rosenberg espionage cases and the trial of "top Communist leaders in New York."

Reed Harris said his own hearing left him with the impression that "Cohn's job is to prepare a 'script' for use against the witness. Then, during a hearing, if something turned up as evidence that didn't fit Cohn's script, they would ignore it. The answers were either ignored or the facts were taken and twisted into a mythical plot."

No charges were placed against Harris either before or after his hearing, but he was examined three hours in a closed session and a total of nearly 15 hours in five public — and televised — sessions.

The examination focused on a number of points—a book he wrote more than 20 years ago, security clearances for some State Department officials, the location of two radio transmitters for the Voice of America and the cancellation of some Voice of America Hebrew language broadcasts to Israel.

"It seemed to me," Harris said, "that all this was being put together to show a conspiracy existed, some sort of fantastic plot that I was perpetrating."

He told the committee the Hebrew broadcasts were cancelled purely for reasons of economy.

However, Harris said later, the fact that they were discontinued at the time of the "Jewish doctor's plot" in Moscow—prior to Premier Stalin's death—brought inferences in the questioning that he had deliberately ignored a propaganda weapon of immense value in Israel.

"When I got the point of what Cohn and McCarthy seemed to be driving at," he said, "I choked up for several minutes. I couldn't speak."

"The whole thing had an air of complete unreality."

"The most lurid fictional accounts of the Soviet trials or the courts of the Nazis have never come close to this. It is a thoroughly terrifying experience."

"I wish I could convey how it feels to sit there and see situations, events and facts about people distorted out of all appearance of truth. Nobody can adequately describe it."

"The whole effort seems to be to confuse a witness, to break him down, not to get the facts of the case."

Harris said his feeling on the witness stand was that McCarthy adopts "a cold, bloodless manner that gives you the feeling he is completely contemptuous of you and everything you are saying."

He said Cohn uses the "have-you - stopped - beating - your - wife" type of question that is inordinately no matter how it is answered. Sen. Jackson (D-Wash), a member of the investigating subcommittee, also has made this charge against Cohn.

Harris said that after the hearings he received 3,011 letters from people around the country.

"Only three were unfavorable to me," he said. A great many expressed anger over the way my hearing was conducted."

But two former McCarthy staff members, William F. Buckley Jr. and L. Brent Bozell, have defended McCarthy's methods in a book, "McCarthy and His Enemies." They wrote:

"It is certainly not characteristic of McCarthy to come forward with dispassionate recitations of the facts. Rather, like an attorney summing up his case for the jury, McCarthy emerges as an interpreter of the fact; he assumes the role of the government advocate."

The average temperature on Mars is said to be about 40 degrees below zero.

Remember Bertha? In her day she was a whale of a cannon. But she was a cap pistol compared to the destructive power of the Army's new Atomic Cannon that is strengthening your security. With pin-point accuracy the Atomic Cannon throws an 11-inch atomic shell 20 miles! To withstand the shock and terrific heat of firing, vital parts of the Atomic Cannon are hardened in gas-fired furnaces. In heat treating processes, high temperatures are necessary . . . critical control is demanded . . . and economy is a consideration — that's why the Watertown Arsenal, Watertown, Massachusetts, uses gas.

Hedges Favors Start On 1954 Spring Cleanup

Mayor Robert Hedges has tied the enthusiasm of the traditional Springtime cleanup to the city's annexation plans, reminding local residents this is the time to plan construction work inside the city as well as in the area immediately north of the corporation.

The northern area — approximately 322 acres — will soon be annexed to the corporation through final action by City Council and the formalities of state sanction.

Hedges pointed out this affords a great opportunity for the building industry, but he also warned:

"Let's not forget that this is also the time to start new building work inside the city. We are all looking forward to that day soon when the city will take in the big area to the north, but we must remember too that the present city area is obviously in need of much new construction work."

"HE MENTIONED especially the chance to 'spruce up the older houses,' recalling he knows of many property owners who have been waiting for Springtime to begin home improvements.

"A new coat of paint, mended screens and doors and other improvements are to a house what makeup is to a woman," he said. "And Circleville is going to have a lot of new residents looking up and down its streets and avenues in the near future. Furthermore, as far as the Springtime cleanup goes, we all know that big repairs can be avoided in the future if we make relatively small improvements now."

Hedges went on to point out that there have been many new discoveries and improvements in the field of construction. He noted that many new materials are now on the market and improvements on old ones have been discovered.

"New ideas in heating, ventilating and insulation point the way for better and more comfortable living," he added. "And most people might be surprised that the cost of these new developments is not as much as they think."

Circleville's tight housing problem and increasing population for the entire community present a challenge which, according to the

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE PORTABLE SHELVEING

Shelving that is self-supporting, sturdy, and easy to move may be simply constructed with just hammer, saw, nails and square.

Make three double-rung ladders, using 2 by 4's for rails, nominal 1 by 4 lumber for rungs. Shelf boards are nominal 1 by 6-inch lumber, held together with cross-cleats of 1 by 4 lumber, spaced to fit into the slots formed by the double rungs.

The square is the most important tool in this job. The foot of each ladder must be perfectly square, and the upper edge of each rung must be perfectly placed.

A careful job will provide a tight-locking set of shelves.

29-Acre Area Being Readied For Homesites

A 29-acre plot of woods and rolling grounds 1 1/2 miles east of Circleville, just off Route 188, is being developed for homesites by J. Boyd Stout, Circleville construction contractor.

The development will be known as Knollwood Village, and the site overlooks part of Circleville and the Scioto River Valley. Lots will be prepared for 43 houses, and lot owners will be formed into an association to be known as the Knollwood Park Association. Construction will be restricted to plans approved by the association.

The plot is laid out in five courts with lots in each court facing a circular drive. There will be no through streets to create traffic hazards. The lots are odd shaped, consisting of approximately one-half acre each.

Gas and electric service will be provided, and a well capable of producing 140,000 gallons of water a day will supply the central water system. There will be parks, playgrounds and picnic grounds.

STOUT SAID the plotting took into consideration safety for children, convenience of residents, provision of a quiet, spacious place to live, and that the development is being patterned after similar developments which have proved successful in the East.

Most purchasers of the lots will build their own homes, and one proviso in the sale of the lots will be that the home construction must start within a reasonable length of time.

CHS Takes First League Game By Defeating Wilmington 6 To 2

Dick Boyd's Circleville High School Tigers roared to their first league victory Monday afternoon at Ted Lewis Park by trouncing Wilmington 6 to 2. Wilmington didn't score until the top half of the last inning.

Don Skinner went all the way for CHS and contributed a triple to help the Tigers go even in league standings. They are now 1-1, having dropped a league game to Greenfield.

Skinner had a one-hit shutout going into the seventh frame. Wilmington got a walk and a single. A triple by Frazier gave them their only scoring. Skinner had given up only a single in the first six innings while walking only two. Infield support was the best of the season so far with the Tigers making only one error.

Tom Strawser, Tiger first sacker, was the hitting star. He got two for three and drove in the only two earned runs. Wilmington's six errors contributed to the other four.

CIRCLEVILLE scored two runs in the first when Bennington got on base on an error and stole second. Strawser singled him home and went to second on the throw in to the plate. He then scored on an error.

In the third inning, the Tigers got two more unearned runs and added another in the fourth. Their last tally came in the home half of the sixth when Skinner tripled to left and scored on an infield error.

No Wilmington man got more than one hit. Skinner struck out three and issued three bases on balls. Wilmington's hurler, Dick Roberts, struck out eight Tigers but gave up six passes to first base. The losers were able to pull off one double play.

Next game for Circleville is Thursday when the Tigers play host to Lancaster in a non-league game.

Griffith Says He Once Told Off President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clark Griffith, not one to be awed by Presidents of the United States, says he once told Franklin D. Roosevelt to stay away from the baseball season opener—and made it stick.

At a luncheon yesterday honoring his Washington Senators, the 84-year-old club owner recalled he had been dropping in at the White House for 43 years to present gold passes to the chief executive.

"I had a lot of interesting experiences," Griffith said, "but I think I got the biggest kick out of the time I told off President Franklin Roosevelt."

Griffith said it was early during World War II, in 1942 or 1943. "Roosevelt was a good baseball man and a great friend of mine," Griffith said. "He greeted me as usual and I gave him his pass and he said he'd be at the ball park on opening day."

"I said no he wouldn't. And Roosevelt said: 'Why not?' I said there was a war on. 'He said: 'Who's running this show?' and I said: 'You're running the country, Mr. President, but I'm running my ball club.'"

"Roosevelt laughed and slapped his side. 'I know you've been talking to,' he said, 'that blasted Secret Service. They told me I couldn't go but I didn't think they'd go behind my back like that.'"

"That's what they did. They came up to me and told me they'd been trying to keep him from going but that he insisted. So they told me I was the only one who could tell him off."

Griffith paused. "I did it. He sent out a substitute."

Four Sponsors Ready To Back Softball League

Four teams represented at the organizational meeting of the Circleville Recreation softball league Monday night decided to allow one more week for other interested clubs to enter the league.

The quartet which expressed their desire to sponsor teams in the league this summer were: General Electric, Logan Elm Grange, Ashville B & C Oil and Mt. Pleasant Grange.

Another meeting is scheduled for Monday night, April 19, at 7 p. m. at the high school. The schedule will be drawn up at that time. A six or eight team league is desired, according to Dick Boyd.

At Monday night's gathering, the representatives settled on the entry fees and discussed which umpires would be used and how much they would be paid.

It was decided that the league would play on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights if eight teams enter the league. Saturday will be dropped in case only six teams play.

Teams interested in entering the league are asked to appear at the next meeting. If this is not possible, they should call Dick Boyd at 556-R.

Stock Car Racing Set For Saturday

The Washington C. H. Speedway will hold its opening stock car race Saturday, April 24, under the lights. Time trials are at 7:15 p. m. and the first race gets under way at 8:30 p. m.

The races will be open competition with cars and drivers from any and all organizations invited. It's a fast 1-3 mile dirt track banked for speed. The track record stands at 16.78 seconds set by Elsie Whetnall of Columbus, Ohio in 1953.

Track officials say it is doubtful whether that record will be broken for quite some time. But under an open competition rules it is hard to say how long any record will stand. Races are scheduled for every Saturday night during the 1954 season.

Minor Loop Boss Very Optimistic

COLUMBUS (AP)—The boss of minor league baseball blossomed out with confidence today and criticized over-emphasis on the "plight" of minor leagues.

George M. Trautman, in a dispatch to league and club presidents, said there is more interest than ever in baseball in the lower classifications.

The minor league president said "too much emphasis is being placed upon the 'plight' of the minor leagues, with the resulting assumption that the very existence of the minors is in jeopardy."

Billy Joe Patton Gets Ike's Invite

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Billy Joe Patton, the sensational amateur who almost won the 1954 Masters' golf title, got another thrill last night—he was invited to play golf with President Eisenhower.

"I'm going back to Morganton (N. C.) for a dinner they are having in my honor Wednesday night," Billy Joe said, "but I'm going back to play golf with President Eisenhower Friday."

The President is scheduled to fly here tomorrow for a golfing vacation at the Augusta National, scene of the annual Masters.

Sport Briefs

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Indians have announced their spring baseball training camp would be at Tucson, Ariz., again next year.

Ascot Park opens its 41-day running-horse racing season tomorrow with upwards of 800 horses on hand.

Defenseman Eddy Reigle will not play tonight for Cleveland's Barons when they attempt to clinch a series with the Hershey Bears for the American Hockey League's Calder Cup. He is ill with a virus infection.

Bowling Green University's basketball team has named Bill Roger of Ashland captain for the 1954-55 season.

Sokolsky's These Days

In the war against Indochina, which not too remotely involves Burma and Thailand, one of the weapons available to the United States is non-recognition of Red China. As long as the Peking regime has no seat in the United Nations, it has no "face" in Asia, its prestige is not as great as those nations which do have seats in the United Nations.

Red Chinese representatives cannot make long speeches on great problems in a world forum. They are unable to use the United Nations as a sounding board to attack the United States on racial issues and to proclaim to all the world the superiority of the Sinic peoples. Chou En-lai cannot compete with Vishinsky in violent diatribes against American capitalism, while advocating American capitalist investments in China.

We shall undoubtedly get a sample of Chinese oratory at Geneva and I can tell you that it can be biting, even fierce to the point of hysterics. But the Geneva Conference is not the United Nations where every little issue can be magnified into an attack on the United States with ample quotations from Marx, Lenin and Mao Tsetung.

If the United States continues to hold the position that Red China must cease her belligerency before conversations on recognition will even be listened to, some little may be accomplished at Geneva in establishing that the United States is horrified by Red Chinese barbarism and that good conduct must precede, not follow, recognition. Such an attitude may lead to war between the United States and Red China; its converse is no guarantee that there can be peace in the world. Indochina is now the principal theater of a continuing war.

Farmers' Share Of Consumers Dollar Up-And-Down Affair

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office, located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here, headed by County Agent Larry Best, is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

What's happening to the farmers' share of the consumers' dollar? Ralph Sherman, agricultural economist at Ohio State, says one thing is certain, it doesn't hold still very long.

The lowest return to farmers was in 1932 when they received 32 cents from each dollar consumers spent for products farmers produced. The highest was 54 cents in 1945. For those who like averages, Sherman says the average share of the consumers' dollar received by farmers was 44 cents.

He says the trend from the price peak of 1918 to the 1945 price peak shows an increase of 3.2 cents. Price charts indicate this 37-year period was a complete economic cycle.

During the last 40 years, the farmers' share of each dollar has increased 5.6 cents. That's 14-hundredths of a cent per year.

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has announced its support of a new government program for wool which the organization says "will benefit not only the wool producers but the American taxpayers as well".

According to D. R. Stanfield, assistant executive secretary of the farm organization, the new program would take wool out from under government price supports and "domestically produced wool prices would be permitted to seek their own level in the market, competing directly with other fibers and with imported wools. Then, U. S. wool producers would receive direct payments from the Government. These would equal the difference between the average market price for the season and 90 per cent of parity."

Stanfield added: "Each producer would receive the same support payment per pound of wool, no matter how much he received for his wool in the market place. This would allow each grower his reward for efficient production and marketing."

The farm leader pointed out that the new system would not require government loans, purchases, storage, or any other interference with the market.

Stanfield rated Pickaway County one of Ohio's important sheep counties, ranking 24th among the 88. There were approximately 1,104,000 sheep and lambs on Ohio farms last year, he estimated, and 16,600 of them were in Pickaway County.

Hog raisers planning to have their swine vaccinated against cholera this spring were advised today to be sure about the health and condition of the herd before vaccination is carried out.

Dr. A. H. Quin, president-elect of the American Veterinary Medical Association, said that in cases where swine have recently recovered from influenza, half of them may be resistant to all methods of cholera vaccination.

In other cases, over-reactions, including pulmonary complications have to be coped with, Dr. Quin said. However, some diseases, such as atrophic rhinitis, may have no effect on the animal's resistance to the vaccine.

Dr. Quin suggested that farmers seek professional advice on the condition of the herd and on the type of vaccination best suited to the local situation in planning cholera protection.

Twenty-six $200 scholarships are available to Ohio high school seniors planning to enroll in agriculture or home economics at Ohio State University.

John T. Mount, junior dean of the College of Agriculture, said the scholarships are awarded deserving young men and women who are leaders in their community and rank in the upper third of their high school class.

County extension offices have application blanks. Applications must be mailed to the Ohio State University College of Agriculture not later than June 1.

In localities where control campaigns have cut down the number of rabies cases among dogs, wild animals are now the chief carriers of the disease, according to latest reports.

Veterinary medical leaders this week cited the instance of one eastern state where only a dozen cases of canine rabies were reported in a year, but 400 cases were diagnosed among foxes and an equal number in cattle. As more and more areas bring rabies outbreaks

More Use Of Farm Surpluses Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Foreign Affairs Committee members have called for greater use of farm surplus (up to $1 billion worth) in the U. S. foreign aid program.

The committee members spoke out at a hearing on the $3,497,700,000 mutual security aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1. The bulk of this program—$1,768,900,000—would go to the Far East.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, deputy to Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen, told the committee the agency plans a 60 per cent cut in funds for surplus farm goods. He said the current year's total of $241 million will drop to $60 million.

Broom-Maker Dies

NEW PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Carl Zimmerman, 84, onetime mayor of nearby Sugar Creek who retired in 1947 as operator of a broom manufacturing firm carrying his name.

In dogs under control, the problem of eliminating rabid wildlife will increase, officials said.

Only through a double-barrelled program to eliminate all such disease sources can rabies eventually be eradicated, according to the American Veterinary Medical Association which is urging a nationwide anti-rabies effort.

Jackson Twp. Residents Get Fire Protection

Jackson Township is now assured of fire protection by either the Williamsport firefighters or the department at Ashville, according to Scott Radcliff, township trustee spokesman for Jackson.

Radcliff said a contract to provide fire protection for residents in the northern section of the township was signed with Ashville officials, and that a similar pact to cover the southern area was signed with Williamsport.

Williamsport's firefighting equipment was increased by purchase of the pumper formerly owned by the Rural Township Fire Association, now dissolved. At the time of the public sale of the pumper in Circleville, Williamsport already had a truck of its own.

In addition, Radcliff reported, Williamsport has purchased a 2,000-gallon tanker for special use of rural runs. The tanker, which carries a radio, will be on call for fires in any section of Jackson Township, Radcliff emphasized.

Jackson Township officials at one time indicated they were willing to join a firefighting partnership being formed by the city of Circleville and two other townships—Circleville and Washington. However, Jackson spokesmen later said this plan had been discarded in favor of the new arrangement announced by Radcliff.

California has the most automobile drivers with New York ranking second. Nevada has the least number.

Starting the Day with an Hour's Rest!

It's about an hour from his home to his office—but he doesn't think of it as a drive at all.

He just settles back in the deep, comfortable seat—rests his hand on the inviting wheel—looks out over the hood in the general direction of the office—and starts to relax.

Comes first, the ten-mile stretch in the country.

If the car were standing still, it could not be smoother or softer or quieter—as it loafs over the broad, winding highway. There's only the faint sound of the wind, plus the receding trees and posts and buildings, to give him a sense of movement.

Almost before it begins, it seems, the ten-mile stretch is over—and a sign announces the city's limits. The soft pressure of his foot shifts from accelerator to brake—and the big car settles down easily, smoothly and quickly to the prescribed speed.

And then begins the real wizardry of Cadillac performance. Stop and go—in and out—roll and creep . . . all regulated with the slightest touch of toe and hand. Insofar as the driver is concerned, it's just as easy as the open road—a little slower, of course, but just as calm and relaxing.

And maybe a little bit nicer, in one notable respect—for now there are drivers all about him—stealing glances at his beautiful car, and wondering who's the fortunate person whose name is on the title!

What a car—for highway or street! Owners say the hours behind its wheel are among the finest hours of the day—restful, relaxing and inspiring.

If you haven't as yet driven a 1954 Cadillac—you've been missing something wonderful! Better come in soon—for the most revealing hour you ever spent behind the wheel of a motor car.
